

THE STORY

Five gophers named Gail, George, Gregory, Gloria and Gertrude decided to purchase a five-bedroom house. They each moved into one of the bedrooms and proceeded to paint it. They each chose a different color. The colors were red, yellow, green, purple and orange. The gophers could not agree on a name for their new house. Each of them thought up a different name. The names were Gopher Gables, Gopherville, 1 Gopher Place, Gopher Plaza and Gopher Castle. Based on the clues, match the gophers with their bedroom colors and their favored house names.

THE CLUES

2. The gopher that slept in the orange bedroom favored the name Gopherville.
3. The gopher that slept in the red bedroom favored the name Gopher Castle.
4. Gail did not paint her bedroom green, and Gertrude did not favor the names 1 Gopher Place or Gopher Plaza.
5. The gopher with the green bedroom was in favor of calling the house Gopher Plaza.

THE STORY

Five farmers named Don, Dave, Damon, Daniel and Darrell lived on small farms of different sizes. The farms were 3, 4, 5, 6 and 7 acres. Their last names were Sow, Till, Chaff, Furrow and Grainly. The farmers each owned one dog. Their names were Rex, Mimi, Spike, Kooper and Droopey. Based on the clues, match the farmers with the size of their farms, their last names and their dogs' names.

THE CLUES

1. The number of letters in the farmers' first names does not match the number of acres, the number of letters in the farmers' last names, and the number of letters in the names of the dogs.
2. Damon had twice as many acres as Dave but less than Don, while Darrell had fewer acres than Grainly, whose dog was named Spike.
3. Mimi's master had more acres than Darrell, but did not have the most acres.
4. Dave did not own Rex, as Rex belonged to Chaff.
5. Kooper and Droopey did not belong to Furrow, and it was Kooper's master who owned the largest farm.
