

THE STORY

Five friends named Biff, Bill, Betty, Bess and Bonnie were learning to play five different musical instruments. They were learning to play the banjo, the guitar, the piano, the harp and the violin. Their music teachers were named Mr. Whiting, Mrs. Tiller, Mrs. Horton, Ms. Driver and Mr. Bolton. The five friends took their lessons on different days of the week. Their lessons were on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday. Based on the clues, match the friends with their musical instruments, their teachers, and the days of the week they had their lessons.

THE CLUES

1. Bess and Bonnie did not play the piano, harp or violin.
2. The banjo teacher was Mr. Bolton, and the guitar teacher was Ms. Driver.
3. Piano lessons were on Wednesday, harp lessons were on Monday, and violin lessons were on Tuesday.
4. Bonnie's music lesson was later in the week than Bess' music lesson, and Mr. Bolton never worked on Friday.
5. Bill did not play piano, and his lesson was the day after Mrs. Horton taught harp lessons and the day before Betty's lesson.
6. Mrs. Tiller did not give piano lessons.

THE STORY

Ron, Rhoda, Randy, Rory and Rilda attended the same college. In their senior year, they rented a five-bedroom house and they each took one bedroom. They painted their bedrooms pink, orange, black, white and brown. They were majoring in different subjects. Their majors were math, biology, history, geology and English. They all enjoyed collecting as a hobby. They collected stamps, coins, bottle caps, baseball cards and rocks. Based on the clues, match the college friends with their bedroom colors, their majors and their collections.

THE CLUES

1. Ron and Rhoda collected stamps and coins, majored in biology and history, and painted their bedrooms white and brown, but maybe not in that order.
2. Randy's bedroom was not pink or black, and Rory secretly had a crush on the geology major who collected baseball cards and lived in the pink bedroom.
3. Randy did not major in English or collect rocks, and Rhoda did not collect coins.
4. The coin-collector majored in history and lived in the brown bedroom.
